

Operations Managers Awards in full swing

With just over five weeks to go before the Entry Papers are judged, continuing entries for the 2010 ALMR Operations Managers Awards are now being encouraged.

The Awards, which recognise and reward the outstanding talent of Business Development Managers and Area Managers, are widely regarded as being the most important and prestigious in the licensed sector's calendar.

Commenting on the Awards, now in their 14th year, Nick Bish, CEO of ALMR said: "One of the many key elements of these Awards is that Finalists' really benefit from their involvement. We have heard from past finalists that because of the Awards process they have significantly improved their own skills and talent.

"In fact one Finalist even commented that the MasterClass, the 3 day development course for the top 20, was 'the most significant 3 days in my life', high praise indeed, and surely an incentive to take part?"

Nominations for both Business Development Manager and Area Manager categories are available online at www.almropsawards.org.uk or by calling the ALMR on 0208 579 2080.

The Winners will be announced, to the 1200 assembled guests at the ALMR Christmas Luncheon on Wednesday 16th December.
